

In Arges County, near the Lake Balea with the Carpathian Mountains to do surround the beautiful landscape, the National Grand Lodge of Romania has met for the spring assembly. A wonderful weather and great fraternal hospitality made the event really beautiful, emotional and full of meanings. Eight foreign Masonic powers have attended and honoured this Masonic International event. Bulgaria, Cameroon, Italy, Lebanon, Moldova, Serbia, Czech Republic and Russia have given their testimony and friendship during the ritual works, reaffirming that the union is the key strength for the development of regular Freemasonry in the World. The Grand Master of Romania Tudorel Nitulescu, anchor of international Freemasonry, starred in the most brotherly its role as hosting Institution and centre of an important Masonic renewal movement, based on legality, regularity and mutual respect.

The presence of Daniel Roman, Grand Commander of the Supreme Council AASR of Romania, and Miro Crismanovici, representing the Supreme Council AASR of Serbia, have given still more importance to the meeting, a month before the Twelfth Annual Conference of the Confederation of the United Grand Lodges of Europe, which will see the city of Belgrade and the National Grand Lodge of Serbia international centre of European Freemasonry. The meeting was an important opportunity for fraternal and constructive dialogue between the Summits of the attending Masonic Institutions. Fraternal "agapi" and cultural events, tourism and folklore did surround the three-day event.
